Jap Warships Carry Warfare Deep Into China

Use Swollen Yangtze As Highway For Movement Of Big Fleet

U. S. REFUSES TO WITHDRAW SHIPS

Flood Waters Of Yangtze Also Hamper Movement Of Jap Troops

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, June 13.—Using the turbid waters of the swollen Yangtze river as a highway, Japan today carried large-scale naval warfare deep into the interior of China.

Fifty or sixty warships steamed upstream and landed a force totaling nearly 2000 troops above and below Anking.

British advisers said that Anking, city of 110,000 and capital of Anhui province, midway between Nanking and Hankow, was occupied by the Japanese with little resistance.

Chinese stories that the Japanese landing parties were driven back to their ships were denied by the Japanese.

Refuse To Withdraw U. S. Ships

Japan's campaign of river warfare broke out immediately after the indictment of Japan by the League of Nations on June 11, 1937, for her aggression against China.

In a vociferously defiant statement, Admiral Hara, U. S. fleet commander of the American Asiatic fleet, also refused to change the white color of American river boats.

PA NEW OBSERVES

It has been reported that some person or persons stole the drinking cup from the fountain in the corner of North Mill and East Washington streets on Friday night.

The city officials have been good enough to supply this convenient for the thirsty public, and the destroying and theft of this equipment is vandalism of the lowest type, and drastic measures will be taken against any person guilty of committing these acts.

Gardens and crops benefited greatly from the rain which fell Sunday. The ground had gotten quite dry again. Farmers are anxious for the weather to warm up more, however, particularly those with large acreages of corn.

The extremely cold nights have been poor for the corn. Hay, oats and wheat will be bumper crops in the county according to present indications. Wheat is beginning to show a yellow blight at the bottom as the stalks dry out toward the ripening heads and the wheat harvest will soon be on.

Tuesday is Flag Day, and will be generally observed through out New Castle and Lawrence county by the display of the national emblem.

Weather conditions of the past week or so have been a great deal better than the weather of the week before. The weather conditions are now in order in many parts of the city and county.

Killdeer are strange little birds with peculiar nesting habits. They lay their eggs on the bare ground, usually in gravelly soil, and it is hard to tell the eggs from the surrounding sand. Spectators at the golf match at Sylvan Heights course Sunday afternoon discovered a killdeer's nest in the center of the road which runs between No. 5 and No. 10 fairways at the course. The main road running through the center of

Delegation Attends State G. O. P. Session

Delighted with the outpouring of Republican sentiment in Philadelphia, Saturday, the delegation of Lawrence county Republicans who attended the meeting of the state committee were back home, convinced that this year will see a Republican administration returned to Harrisburg.

Political observers say the meeting in the Bellevue-Stratford ballroom Saturday was the biggest state committee meeting held in years and rivaled in appearance the old days of the state conventions. Every county of the 67 in the state was represented with Lawrence sending down a delegation several times as large as it ever had before.

Several of the Lawrence county group left Philadelphia in the afternoon and spent the night in Atlantic City. Others visited historic spots in Philadelphia, while still others returned by train Saturday night.

The following men composed the Lawrence county group: County Chairman Roger W. Rowland, State Committee Ivar V. Davis, Judge Thomas W. Dickey, Chief Deputy Sheriff Clyde L. Badger, Welfare Officer Edwin O. Reed, Attorney Orville Brown, Mayor Guy J. Wadlinger, Thomas C. Edmunds, Milton A. Bickett, B. N. Hanlon, Attorney Charles H. Young, William D. Waller, F. S. Breuneman, John Patterson, David Jones, Dr. Arthur B. Foster, A. B. Vogan, James A. Rugh, Walter W. Duff and Bart Richards.

Find Wreckage Of Plane In Which Nine Died Last March 1

(International News Service)
Yosemite, Cal., June 13.—A line of federal air inspectors today made their slow way today up snow-capped Buena Vista peak, where the shattered wreckage of the T. W. A. airliner missing three months with nine persons aboard, has been found.

Half-hidden in melting snows 200 feet below the summit of the peak, the skyliner was found by 23-year-old H. O. Collier of Fresno, Cal., who had climbed the peak on a "hunch" that the wreck might be found there.

The peak, in the southern part of Yosemite National Park, is 17 miles north of Bass Lake, where the motors of the plane were last heard in a storm on the night of March 1.

The fact that scores of airplanes failed to sight the wreckage in the long search was explained by Collier, who said the plane had struck with such terrific force that it was scattered in small pieces.

The bodies were mangled and unrecognizable. Collier said he had counted "eight or nine" late last night.

Nine Persons Aboard

The nine persons aboard were: Capt. John Graves, 35, chief pilot; Palo Alto, Cal.; C. W. Wallace, 27, co-pilot; Tucson, Ariz.; Martha M. (Continued On Page Two)

Four Injured In Auto Crash

Cars Collide In Head-on Collision On Pulaski Hill Early This Morning

CONDITION OF TWO IS SERIOUS

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, when the automobile of Paul McClenahan, aged 20, of R. P. D. No. 1, New Wilmington, and John Williamson, aged 24, of 1943 Everett street, Youngstown, collided head-on, on the hill this morning.

Williamson is in the Jameson Memorial hospital in a serious condition with head injuries, a fractured collarbone, possibly fractured jaw and lacerations of the head and face. Charles Spott, aged 13, of Pulaski, an occupant of the McClenahan car, is also in the same hospital with head injuries, and is reported in a serious condition.

McClenahan, the driver, and his brother James, 22, escaped with bruises and lacerations of the face. Their condition is said to be good at the hospital.

Williamson was enroute to his home in Youngstown, after visiting his fiancée, Miss Florence Jenkins of Brent, to whom he was to be married on Wednesday evening at Brent. Because of his serious injuries, the wedding has been postponed. Relatives of Miss Jenkins stated today.

The cars came together on the curving inside road. The McClenahan car was enroute towards New Wilmington, while the other machine was traveling in the direction of Pulaski, it is stated.

Democratic Leader In Homestead And Five Election Board Members Sentenced

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 13.—A democratic leader and five election board members in Homestead today were sentenced for violating the election laws by Judge W. Heber Dittich who delivered a stern warning against using the WPA for political purposes.

John Marko, a WPA foreman during the September primary last year and also a prominent Homestead Democratic leader, was given six months in the workhouse without parole, fined $100 and disfranchised for four years.

Zigmund Rydzowski, judge of elections in the third district of which Marko was Democratic leader, was given the same sentence. Gertrude Jones and Otto Balbach, election inspectors, were given suspended sentences of three to six months in jail. William Pondekster and Andrew Britz, Jr., election clerks, were given suspended sentences of two months to one year in jail.

Striking Example

"Your case presents a striking example of WPA in politics," Judge Dittich told Marko. "When you were required to reveal from your position of judge of elections after you had been made a WPA foreman you should have realized that it was expected of you that you would abstain from any pernicious political activity but on the contrary you have done the opposite."

Britain Rejects Japan's Demand Ships Be Moved

Refuses To Take Ships Out Of Yangtze River As Requested

JOINS IN STAND BY U. S. ADMIRAL

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, June 13.—Great Britain today joined with the United States in rejecting a Japanese demand that foreign vessels be cleared from the Yangtze river to permit unhindered Japanese naval operations.

British gunboats assigned to Wuhu and Kichang were ordered to remain at their posts as 50 or 60 Japanese warships steamed upstream and landed a force totaling nearly 1,000 troops above and below Nanking.

Inauguration of the large-scale Japanese operations found American ships under command of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell standing firm while British naval authorities sharply refused to comply with the Japanese demands.

Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, commander-in-chief of British naval forces in Chinese waters, took a similar attitude that responsibility for identifying hostile targets lies with the Japanese.

Presence of British gunboats on the Yangtze has been rendered even more necessary for protection of British lives and property by the Japanese drive on Hankow.

Czech-German Conflict Enters Dangerous Phase

Series Of Elections Has Now Been Completed In Czechoslovakia

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1938)

PRAGUE, June 13.—Europe today enters upon a new and more dangerous phase of the Czech-German conflict.

This country yesterday completed its third and last of a series of municipal elections with a perfect record of public order insured by fewer disturbances than are customary in local political contests in America.

Now begins a period of acute hostilities between the government and Hitler's and Henlein's Germans, who have entered from the balloting with approximately 90 per cent of all the German votes.

To Push Demands

Elated by success, they are today preparing to push their demands for autonomy to the limit, which the Czech government cannot accept; and this week may bring nearer the final ultimatum for the plebiscite which the Henlein Germans hope will make them citizens of the Reich.

But the Czech government will not grant it.

What this means for Europe can best be understood by conversation with Henlein leaders in their own territory, away from the soft-spoken subtleties of their Prague headquarters.

The speech of Rudolf Hess, deputy Nazi leader, in which he declared it was false that Germany ever contemplated attacking Czechoslovakia, and that the Germans, knowing what war means, would never start one, but that Czechoslovakia's very existence is a mockery of the principle of self-determination, aroused deep but restrained indignation here.

Resentment was particularly great over his statement that Czechoslovakia had mobilized without grounds.

The government's desire to be conciliatory is, however, so resolute that it is unlikely any official reply will be made.

But the best commentary upon Hess' speech was the statement made to me at Reichenberg, chief city of Sudeten Germany, by three leaders of the Henlein party. This statement reveals more of the true situation than reams of official declarations.

New Government Contracts Bill Is Storm Center

Becomes Source Of Heated Controversy In Closing Days Of Congress

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—A drastic government contracts bill, which would curtail a new and powerful weapon upon the National Labor Relations board, today became a storm center of controversy in the waning days of the session of Congress.

The measure would bring all government contracts of $2,000 or more under the Walsh-Healey act and provide for backstopping of employees who fail to obey orders of the Labor Relations board.

With sponsors of the legislation estimating that it would touch 80 per cent of all American industry, the bill has been suddenly vaulted into the field of major legislation.

During most of the present session of Congress the labor board has been on the defensive against a series of bitter attacks. Even though efforts to curb the board failed, its most powerful friends refrained from seeking to broaden its power until the revised measure was proposed.

Czech Troops Will Remain On Guard

(International News Service)
PRAGUE, June 13.—Three hundred thousand Czech troops today remained on guard along the western frontiers awaiting the first tripartite ultimatum of the Sudeten Germans over their election plans.

While the supporters of Konrad Henlein brought their belated strength up to about 90 per cent in the last of three municipal elections, their apparent victory was tempered somewhat by the fact that the Czech minority in the Sudeten region also gained. Communist lost.

As in the two previous elections, non-Germanic areas gave a powerful vote of confidence to the government of Premier Milan Hodza.

The rejuvenated movement for Slovak autonomy seemed to have suffered surprising losses. Incomplete reports indicated the Father Andreus Hlinka, Slovak leader, polled fewer votes than expected.

Sudeten estimates which other factions said should be considerably discounted credited the Nazis with 99.9 per cent of the Germanic vote yesterday.

State Committee To Seek To Complete Harmony Plan For Election

RE-ELECTION OF LAWRENCE SEEN

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, June 13.—Democratic leaders today added their last patches to the "harmony" program, assumed for achieving outstanding political bedfellows at tomorrow's important state committee meeting.

Back together again on the eve of the biennial organization session were State Chairman David L. Lawrence and U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffy, whose primary campaign split was the most serious seen in 20 years.

As a result of successful Washington parties, instituted with implied White House suggestion, these developments were anticipated.

Anticipated Developments

1. Re-election of Lawrence and other state committee officers, including Mrs. Edith B. De Witt, vice chairman who ran against the organization for internal affairs secretary on the Guffy-CEO ticket.

2. Picking of the Guffy-Kennedy primary organization of 50 county leaders to support the Earle-Jones-Mundy-Logie ticket in November. This was to take place tonight at a "rump" session of Guffy leaders, called by the senator about ten days ago when the trace was meeting realization.

3. Probable resignation of MacLellan H. McCloskey, Jr., as party finance chairman following a "pressure" requirement by Lawrence. McCloskey was the chief target of Democratic and Republican primary attacks.

State Court Grants Delay Of Five Days

Gov. Earle And Others Granted Extension Of Time For Answering Probe Plea

COURT WILL HEAR ARGUMENTS FRIDAY

Seek To Halt Grand Jury Probe Of Charges Of Graft And Corruption In State

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The state administration today was granted five additional days in which to show cause why the Dauphin County grand jury should not investigate charges of graft and corruption leveled against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 high ranking Democrats.

The state supreme court allotted the extra time after the governor, through his attorney, had pleaded for a postponement of argument until Friday. In granting the request, Chief Justice John W. Kepner said the court recognized the plea "out of courtesy to the governor."

The court will hear argument Friday morning.

Three members of the tribunal of seven—Justices William I. Schafer, William B. Linn and James B. Drew—banded down a dissenting opinion on which the postponement of the granting of the postponement.

Decision Given

The tribunal's decision, written by Justice Kepner, said:

"A majority of this court are of the opinion that as a matter of courtesy to this court to the governor his request for four days time for the purpose of filing an amended petition for the writ of prohibition should be granted."

Justice Schafer, Mr. Justice Drew and Mr. Justice Linn are of the opinion that the continuance should be refused, without prejudice in the right of the governor to the amended application of the district attorney in the quarter session court of Dauphin County.

In requesting the continuance, Attorney General William A. Schneider said: "The governor of Pennsylvania feels that in

And fish the creek and catch a trout that grows in size as days go by, until it measures six feet long, which isn't bad for trout say I. But if you really want to fish, and thus achieve your sporting goal, may I suggest you get a line and angle in a gold fish bowl. Bowers Is Executed At Rockview

Slayer Dies In Electric Chair

Pays Death Penalty For Slaying Of Montgomery County Widow

RETAINS HIS CALM TO FINAL HOUR

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., June 13.—Stolidly and steadfastly silent, Wendell Forrest Bowers, 20-year-old slayer of Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, pretty Montgomery county widow, maintained his head today that "my chin is up; I can take it" as he went to his death in Pennsylvania's 23-year-old electric chair—its 26th victim.

Bowers entered the chair at 12:32 a. m. The first and only contact was made at 12:33. He was pronounced dead by Dr. W. J. Schwartz, prison physician, at 12:35 a. m.
Calmly showing no sign of emotion other than glazing eyes and a waxy complexion, the youthful slayer shuffled slowly into the execution chamber, his lips silently repeating the 23rd psalm after the Rev. C. F. Lauer, prison chaplain.

The last words of the prisoner were still on his lips as the brown leather mask was pulled over his eyes and mouth. A few seconds later 2000 volts poured through his body, leaving it stiff as his outstretched hands folded into a tight clutch.

"I want to have it understood here and now that any other W. P. A. foreman or anyone else who intimidates or coerces voters or interferes with the free exercise of the elective franchise will be similarly dealt with."

Judge Dithrich said failure of congress to proscribe "politics in relief" was not an insurance of immunity against prosecution under the state election laws.

A section of the state laws prohibiting persons or corporations from intimidating or coercing voters was broad enough to embrace the WPA, Judge Dithrich found.

The six sentenced were charged with marking ballots for the Democratic organization's candidate for burgess and controller in Homestead.

DELEGATION ATTENDS STATE G. O. P. SESSION

Tracy Dirlam, senior student at Stanford University, of Mansfield, O.; Mary Louise Dirlam, sophomore at Stanford University, his sister.

Collier brought back to Yosemite Valley with him a pilot's cap and a brief case belonging to Salsburg.

Collier found the wreckage early yesterday morning on the 9777 foot peak but it took him more than 12 hours to bring the news from the desolate crag to Yosemite.

T. W. A. officials and air commerce inspectors flew to Fresno from Burbank and San Francisco early this morning, they left by automobile for Wawona, from where they must travel 15 miles on foot to the scene of the wreck.

Missing Since March 1
Meanwhile, a party of National Park rangers led by Assistant Chief Ranger John Wegener proceeded from Yosemite.

Discovery of the wreck solved the mystery of the plane's fate, shrouded by snows of the Sierra Nevada mountains since the night of March 1, when the craft vanished while enroute from San Francisco to Los Angeles in a blinding snow and wind storm.

At 6:30 p. m. March 1 the plane left San Francisco airport enroute east via Winslow, Ariz. Almost immediately it met a bitter storm raked over the San Joaquin Valley and Pilot Casper was instructed by radio to proceed to Los Angeles instead.

The storm grew worse as the plane reached the Tehachap, range, and Graves started to circle back, apparently intending to make an emergency landing either at Fresno or Bakersfield.

however, asserted that in a counter-attack the insurgents were driven back and were still several miles from Castellon.

The famous Galicians under General Garcia Valino, moved for their mountain fighting, smashed the government line when they captured Lucena Del Old, 15 miles northwest of Castellon.

They pushed on through strongly fortified lines, taking in their stride Borriol, Villafrales and several other villages surrounding Castellon.

With the aid of Italian legionnaires, a half-circle of armed might was then drawn about Castellon.

Refugees Stream Southward
General Jose Mijang, "savior of Madrid" and commander of government forces in the southeast, hastened from Madrid to take personal charge of the troops at Castellon.

Ahead of the government troops as they yielded ground foot by foot, thousands of refugees streamed southward towards Valencia. Although most of them had lost all save a small portion of their belongings, there was no sign of panic.

Forty-one insurgent airplanes yesterday bombed Sagunto, helping to pave the insurgents' way towards Valencia, and 300 bombs were dropped. Two insurgent airplanes, according to government reports, were shot down in flames over the sea.

JAP WARSHIPS CARRY WARFARE DEEP INTO CHINA

The United States, he said, reserves full freedom of movement on the Yangtze, and will go "wherever Americans are endangered."
Japan's request that American ships be allowed to pass through the riverways, Admiral Kamei said emphatically, does not absolve Japan from any responsibility resulting from damage to Americans' property.

Hampers Japanese
The mighty Yangtze, which year after year takes from hundreds to many thousands of lives by causing floods and famines, played a double role today in the long war. While it served as a waterway for Japan's warships, it also hampered Japanese troop movements in northern Honan province.

Through great gaps in the Dykes caused by Japanese artillery blasts, the rising river poured over hundreds of square miles. Many villages were inundated, and progress of the Japanese army along the Luangliang railroad westward from Chengchow was impeded.

The Yangtze is still rising, and spread of the flood over the plains of northern Kiangsi is also feared.

May Proceed To Hankow
Heavy bombardments from the warships aided the landing parties at Anking, and further landing are expected.

Later the Japanese river armada may proceed up the remaining 215 miles to Hankow.

Canton was raided by Japanese airplanes during the night for the 16th successive day. Americans and other aliens in the foreign settlement on Shamien Island at Canton are making arrangements for evacuation.

The southern metropolitan population of 1,000,000 has already been reduced to 400,000 by the terrified residents flee to the countryside or other points.

face of the changes made in practically every one of the charges, it is not only his right but his duty to file an amended petition for a writ of prohibition.

The governor's answer will attack the very foundation of the charges and I do not feel that his court would be warranted in ignoring that answer, which will go much deeper than that."

Needs More Time
Pointing out that the high tribunal gave Dauphin County District Attorney Carl B. Shelley 20 days in which to file an amended petition in his request for a grand jury investigation of the Earle administration, former Attorney General William A. Schneider said he found it impossible to prepare his answer to the accusations in two days.

In his amended petition, Shelley, a Republican, charged Gov. Earle, eight members of his official family, and five other prominent Democrats, with conspiring to "cheat and defraud" the commonwealth and through this alleged "system of crime" enriched themselves, the Democratic state committee and other political committees. Shelley's petition estimates the "enrichment" amounted to more than $8,250,000 during the last four years.

The murder indictment will be sought despite the fact that McCall—who has confessed the abduction of the child, for whose ransom the father vainly paid $10,000—insists that death of the victim was accidental.

Highlighting the occasion was the serving of a full course luncheon at noon. During the procedure, it was announced that Mrs. Pond had been elected State treasurer of the D. A. C. for the term of three years.

The program of the afternoon proved especially entertaining as well as educational. Mrs. T. Eckles read an account she had composed on "The American Indian." "Old Times and New" was the title of the article contributed by John Spooner, which was read by Mrs. Marvin B. Dinsmore.

Mrs. Emery, president, gave an interesting report of the National Convention of D. A. C. in Washington, D. C. which she attended March 22.

BURRY-PORTER EVENT AT FIRST U. P. CHURCH

Simple but impressive, was the wedding Saturday evening which took place in the First United Presbyterian church, when Miss Anna-Maria Mac Burry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Burry of Highland avenue, became the bride of Glenn E. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Porter of Washington, Pa.

Before the beautifully embanked altar, outlined with pink poinsettias, the marriage vows were exchanged at 7:30 o'clock, with the Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor, officiating. He used the single ring service. Guests, including relatives and friends of the couple, filled the church.

Given in marriage by her father, D. E. Burry, the bride was attired in a pink sheer street length dress, made with bolero jacket. She wore a turban to match, and her shoulder corsage was of gardenias. Attending her sister as maid of honor, Miss Lois Burry appeared in a blue sheer, made similar with jacket effect, and her turban matched. Pink roses were worn in a shoulder cluster.

Tom Sadler of this city, served the groom as best man. Ushering were, Lawrence Ake of Youngstown, O., William Noll, Lee Cox and Charles Zeigler, all of Pittsburgh.

Preceding and during the ceremony, appropriate nuptial music was contributed by A. Alfred Taylor, organist. Included in his program were "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Dreams" by McAnis, "Garden of Amore" by Nevin and "Benediction Nuptial" by Dubois. For the processional, he played the "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin" by Wagner and for the recessional, the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn was resounded.

Adding further to the impressiveness of the event, two sisters of the bride, Mrs. E. E. Schwartz and Mrs. J. L. Speed, sang two numbers prior to the entrance of the bride party.

For their first they sang, "At Diving" by Cadman and "I Love You Truly" by Bond. A. Alfred Taylor, was their accompanist.

A congratulatory period followed immediately afterwards, and later, a reception for a hundred guests at the bride's home, took place. The house throughout was decorated with bouquets of garden flowers, and at a suitable time, a buffet lunch was served. The bride's table was decorated with the traditional tiered wedding cake, surrounded with miniature figures. Oranges blossoms and white flowers, flanked the base, and lighted candles in branching candelabrum completed the arrangement.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Porter left for their cottage at Millvale, where they will spend the summer months.

The bride, a New Castle high school graduate, also graduated from Penn State college, and she has been affiliated with the faculty of Senior high school, as an instructor in the Home Economics department. Mr. Porter is a graduate of W. & J., and holds a responsible position with the Household Finance company in Pittsburgh.

Guests who attended from out of town, represented Marian, New York, Butler, Aliquippa, Washington, Pa., Youngstown, O., New Wilmington and surrounding vicinities.

Income Tax Returns Filed Here In 1937 Show Large Increase

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—The increase in the number of income tax returns filed by individuals last year was much greater in New Castle and Lawrence county as large than in the country as a whole, according to figures released today by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Houghton.

Last year, 2737 New Castle people filed income tax returns on 1937 earnings. In 1936 only 1812 in the town had filed returns on 1935 income. The 1937 totals represented a gain of 919 returns, or 51 per cent. In Lawrence county as a whole, the number of returns increased from 2771 in 1936 to 4075 in 1937. This represented a gain of 1304 returns, or 47 per cent. In the country at large, on the other hand, such returns increased only 17 per cent, a much smaller climb than recorded in New Castle and Lawrence county.

Returns in Ellwood City increased from 764 to 982. Besemer returns jumped from 19 to 46.

In Other Counties.

Individual returns in Butler county increased from 2001 to 2892 and Beaver county returns from 4836 to 7681. Increases in some of the communities of the two towns were recorded as follows:

Butler, from 1331 in 1936 to 1841 in 1937; Chicora, from 56 to 85; Evans City, from 56 to 68; Mars, from 75 to 95; Slippery Rock, from 36 to 40; Zelienople, from 75 to 110; Beaver, from 590 to 787; Beaver Falls, from 891 to 1293.

The number of Pennsylvania people filing returns jumped from 397,277 in 1936 to 476,732 in 1937. This represented a gain of 19 per cent, slightly greater than the national increase but much smaller than the New Castle and Lawrence county expansions.

Art Course Plan Had Much Appeal

Art Instructor At Highland School Combined Many Ideas In Work

Miss Clara E. Freshwater, art instructor at the Highland Avenue school, had the approval of both parents and pupils in her art course for the elementary grades, which combines both crafts to interest the students, and inexpensive to please the tax-payers. The various projects she developed with her pupils were attractive and useful, and in addition foster in them a love of art not to be created by a dull, scheduled routine.

The finished work has found a place on the walls of the art room, and the nursery rhyme panels which so appropriately decorated the front wall were made by the pupils. Wrapping paper and tempera paint were the cheap tools used, and the results are of a high educational value.

For the easier, first lessons, circles of paper brightly crayoned are tacked together to make clever animal pictures. Silhouettes, pictures made on old photograph negatives. The enthusiasm was just scratched off the celluloid base, and then the design painted on in black sealing wax.

Soap is used to make carved figures of birds and animals, which are then painted in gay colors, and shellacked. Old cloth makes pretty hangings, by crayoning the design on heavy paper, and then transferring it to the cloth by use of a hot iron. The strings of gourds which have proved so popular in recent years for summer decoration were also made by some of the students, simply by painting and shellacking the gourds and stringing them together.

Another interesting field is metal tapping. Patterns were made on paper, then pasted over a sheet of metal, fastened to a block of wood. The design was then tapped with a hammer and nail, and the paper removed, leaving a pretty metal plaque.

The latest project was making paper mache masks of children of foreign countries. Tiny bits of paper, moistened with a paste of flour and water, are molded into shape according to plan. When this hardens, the features were painted, and the mask was ready for hanging. This correlated with the work in geography in that the masks were representative of the different countries the children have studied.

This plan gave the pupils an appreciation of the practical application of art, even though they may not all be artists.

BUSINESS GIRL—1938 MODEL—Office manager Olive Tucker keeps disarmingly calm despite nerve-ragging phones, buzzers, interviews. "If anyone needs healthy nerves, I do," Miss Tucker smiles, adding: "That's one reason why I smoke Camels regularly. They never get my nerves upset." Later—much later—Miss Tucker skips to the roof-top gym for a quick work-out. A shower—a rub—a Camel—and she's off again! Tired? Miss Tucker's answer: "Camels give my energy a refreshing lift!"

WELKER COCHRAN, who has won many important championships at billiards, voices his choice among cigarettes: "Camels give me real smoking pleasure. Under the strain of a championship match, Camels never make me feel jittery or unsure. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'"

JOE DI MAGGIO, idol of baseball fans, speaks for millions of smokers when he comments on his favorite cigarette: "I'm a steady smoker, and Camels don't irritate my throat. That shows Camels have real mildness all right. Watch the ball players pull out Camels!"

ONE SMOKER "CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!"

CIGARETTES MAY LOOK ALIKE—BUT WHAT AN APPEALING DIFFERENCE THERE IS IN CAMELS!

As a smoker, you'll be interested to read what Miss Tucker, successful young office manager, said to Miss MacGregor about the difference between Camels and other cigarettes (below).

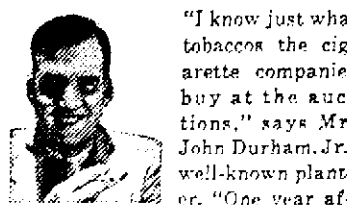

"Olive, do you always serve Camels because you feel that there's a big difference between Camels and other cigarettes?"

"I'm very glad you've brought that question up, Helen. I've tried as many kinds of cigarettes as most people have, I guess, and I'm amazed at how different Camels are. Camels are extra-mild—they never bother my throat at all! And Camels taste so good and rich, yet they never leave me with that 'cigarette' after-taste. Really, in so many ways, Camels agree with me."

OLD MAN BUSINESS licked for another day, Miss Tucker entertains dinner guests—thoughfully! There are lots of Camel cigarettes around her living room. Miss Tucker observes: "Camels are the favorite with my guests and are delightful for topping off a meal. During and after dining, I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. 'Camels set me right!'"

"You bet Camel is our choice in cigarettes"

say these tobacco planters
—and they know tobacco
because they grow it!

"I know just what tobacco the cigarette companies buy at the auctions," says Mr. John Durham, Jr., well-known planter. "One year after another, I've seen Camel buyers take the finest grades in the market—the best of my own crops and those of my friends. They took the best part of my last crop too. Better tobacco makes better smoking, as anyone that grows tobacco knows. So, like most other planters, I smoke Camels. I know the quality tobacco that's in them!"

"There's quite a difference between fine tobacco and ordinary grades," says Mr. Calvin Wiggins, who has sold tobacco to Camel for 20 years. "From my own experience, it's Camel who buys the fine, thin leaves that make the nicest cigarette smoking. Camel bought the really fine baskets of my last crop. I smoke Camels, myself. Most of my grower friends do too. I know, and they know, Camel uses coastier tobacco!"

Saturday was a rather quiet day around the court house, with the two judges, W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey, together with a number of other officers in Philadelphia, where there was a conference of the judiciary of the state.

The customary Saturday morning sentence court was postponed until after the June criminal court session, when all prisoners will be sentenced.

Someone either upset a can of fishing worms, which they were going to use for bait, on the steps of the court house, or else the rain brought them out, the other day. There was a ball of wriggling earthworms which would have made almost a double handful.

It is a mighty strong man, indeed, who does not have to pause for a breathing spell, after walking briskly up the steep slope of Court street, and then up the long flight of stone steps into the court house. Personally we feel that a tunnel from the street into an elevator would be the finest improvement ever made at the court house.

June, the month of roses and brides, is beginning to live up to its reputation, judging from the spurt in marriage licenses. For several days the early part of the month, it seemed no different than any other, but the last few days has shown a slight increase.

Pittsburgh Strike Of Bakers Ended

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 13—Compromising on the points at issue, some 4,000 bakery employees returned to work today, ending their 11-day strike against major baking companies in Western Pennsylvania. The union gained its demand for seniority rights but lost on requests for a closed shop and use of the union label on all wrapped products. Wages and hours were not an issue. Settlement of the bakery strike left the Pittsburgh district with only one other major walkout in effect, that of the interstate freight truckers. Conferences all day yesterday failed to net any concrete results.

Boys In Canoe Make Progress

Reach Rochester Sunday Evening Continue Journey To New Orleans Today

Good progress is being made by Edward Hutchinson and Joseph Hunter, local youths, who are paddling a canoe to New Orleans, La. The two boys tied up at Wampum for their first night after launching in the Shenandoah river, Saturday morning.

Sunday night the youths had reached Rochester, Pa., and spent the night in camp on the river bank there.

According to word received here by the parents of the boys, they encountered their first difficulty on Saturday afternoon, when their canoe was slightly damaged. They were forced to call a halt to make the needed repairs.

Between New Castle and Beaver Falls the youths were only required to take the boat from the water twice, once for repairs and the other time to get around the dam at Beaver Falls.

Before leaving the youths had expected that a good many miles of the distance between here and Beaver Falls would have to be made overland due to the low water, but recent rains made the river passable.

Eighty-Three Fairs Listed For State

Season Opens In Mid-July And Continues Until Mid-November

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The entire state will echo the chants of "barkers," the ring of hoofs thundering around race tracks and familiar barnyard sounds again during the 1938 Pennsylvania Fair Exposition season which opens early in July and continues until mid-November.

With 83 fairs officially listed, no section of the Commonwealth will be without its annual fiesta. Spring Mills, Conshohocken, provides the opening date, July 6-16, followed by the Mifflin County Fair at Lewisburg, August 1-6, signaling the first appearance of horse racing for the season. Antis township, Bellwood, closes the five-month rural pastime November 17-19.

Three of the largest expositions are Reading, September 11-18, Allentown, September 20-24, and York, October 4-8. Philadelphia years ago ruled out fairs and the county fair grounds in this metropolis are now occupied by a hospital.

Despite the midway and other attractions, horse racing still remains the lifeblood of country fairs. Competition promises to be keen this year, particularly in the harness division, with the announced purchase of many trotters and pacers by horsemen.

Meyer Avenue Squirrel Responds To Dinner Bell

Mrs. Ethel Bell, of 320 Meyer avenue, has a unique pet in a friendly squirrel, who resides in the huge tree fronting her home. This small and usually timid type of animal, who is generally accustomed to unfriendliness toward humans, is very "neighborly".

Every morning for a month's time Mrs. Bell takes up a small nut hammer and a handful of English walnuts, and sits down in her favorite rocker on the porch. After rapping gently on the bannister several times, few seconds pass before the squirrel is seen, scurrying down the tree trunk, flashing its bushy tail, to gather the nut meats, which Mrs. Bell feeds her.

Having taken almost for granted the forsaken robin's nest, abandoned on a large limb, and having added a few large twigs, moss, and fragments of rope and cord, the squirrel made a leafy home among the branches and is now bringing up a family. Her mate, nicknamed, Buddy, by the Jack Hutnick family across the street, whose home the latter frequents, sits idly by while Mrs. Squirrel goes out and "brings home the bacon".

The animal will sit with Mrs. Bell for a long time, seemingly taking pleasure in just being near and more domestic pet than many cultivated ones. Some times, she appears fussy and inquisitive, and will search the pockets in Mrs. Bell's apron, for sweet meats and other things.

Raymond Colbert, amateur photographer brother of Mrs. Bell's, has in his collection some unusual and cunning snapshots of this friendly and amiable tyke. The pet is so definitely friendly with the nut donor, that she sits on Mrs. Bell's lap, climbs up her dress to peer, with a clever anxious look in the sacks of her eyes, on her return from the store, and even goes to the extent of being friendly with the neighborhood dogs so that Mr. Colbert has secured some really worth while snapshots of these types of pictures.

Mercer Has Site But Post Office Is Not Started

(Special To The News) MERCER, Pa., June 13.—Two years have passed since it was announced that the government would build a post-office in Mercer.

Following the announcement several months elapsed before any steps were taken. Bids for a site were then received, and after investigation of the different properties, the Griffith property, a block from the business district, already owned by the HOLC, was selected, and several months later the transfer was made to the post office department.

Soundings were taken and various surveys made. For several weeks nothing further has been heard.

The property is falling into decay, and the once beautiful grounds which made it one of the most attractive homes in town have become an eyesore to that part of the borough.

In the meantime, the lease expired on the present building, occupied by the department, and it was renewed for another year.

DIRECTORS HEAR REPORT SATURDAY

Members and directors of the Americanization Society of New Castle held their monthly meeting Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. building with President Robert McCormick in charge.

Highlight of the meeting was the monthly report made by Miss Christine Butler, head of the Americanization work. Miss Butler reported that during the month of May she made 40 calls to the homes of those who attend meetings and services at the Neighborhood House on East Reynolds street.

She also made several calls on six members of the group who are patients in the city hospitals. Miss Butler's report, similar in many respects to her reports made in previous meetings, explained the work from day to day at the Neighborhood House where planned programs are presented in such a way that citizenship and religion go hand in hand.

A typical weekly program, according to Miss Butler, includes beginners sewing class, women's English class, Christian Endeavor, chorale, every circle, harmonica club, music classes, play in basement, and Sunday school held each Sunday afternoon.

To Present Programs

An additional undertaking by the teachers and supervisors of the Sunday school is a girls chorus and girls trio under the able leadership of Mrs. Garth Edmundson with Mrs. Walter Bender at the piano. Both Mrs. Edmundson and Mrs. Bender are new members of the Americanization Society and are very active in the work at the Neighborhood House. Miss Butler reports.

In the near future the chorus plans to make personal appearances in numerous churches throughout the city in an attempt to raise sufficient funds to carry on the additional Americanization and religious work planned by those in charge.

During the month of May Miss Butler witnessed another lady member of the House receive her citizenship papers.

Each Tuesday morning a baby clinic is held at the House for all mothers and babies under the guidance of nurses representing the Shenango Tin Mill and the State Board of Health.

Contributions during May were received from Mrs. Jacob Rummel, the Circle of 91, Miss Pauline Lyberger, Miss Hanna Walker, and Mrs. H. C. Stillings.

Standing committees of the Americanization Society appointed Saturday evening include:

Finance and budget committee—B. P. Johnson, chairman; Mrs. Roy A. Long, Miss Mollie Davis, J. S. Ball, Russell Tate, R. H. Kirkpatrick and A. A. Webb.

Sunday school and religious work committee—Mrs. Garth Edmundson, chairman; Mrs. Walter Bender, Jay M. Alsworth, Robert K. Weber, Mrs. R. W. Campbell.

Social service committee—Miss Anne Aiken, chairman; Miss Christine Butler, Mrs. J. Foster, Jack Boyles, Mrs. T. L. Hamilton, and Mrs. A. A. Webb.

Highland School Class Room Was One Of Interest

Projects Aid In Teaching History
And Geography In
Miss Duff's Room

One of the most interesting rooms at Highland avenue school during the last semester, and one of those most attractive to the students, was that of Miss Edna A. Duff, teacher of history and geography. Throughout the room were placed projects made by her classes about the countries and historical scenes they were studying.

The fascinating array included everything from note-book projects to an elaborate cotton plantation, complete with dolls in colonial dress, the planter's house, negro quarters and cotton fields. One of the most significant was a map-pole, surrounded with figures of the different countries in typical national dress, urging international cooperation. The battle of the Monitor and the Merrimack in American history was recorded in an original project showing models of the two boats battling each other on a wind-tossed Chesapeake bay. In contrast was a peaceful flatboat on the Ohio river. Note-books and maps, made of salt and flour, were on display in abundance, each one showing the individuality of the pupil who made it. Ingenuity was shown in covered wagons made of canvas and cardboard, with milk bottle caps for wheels, and in the projects illustrated with travel folder pictures.

This type of work, which appeals to the good student as well as to one who may not be so very good at books, provides an excellent way of interesting the pupils in history and geography through their love of doing things with their hands.

Evangelist Makes Four Addresses To Audiences Sunday

New York Man Speaks At First Baptist Church And Calvary Tabernacle

Pastor Raymond J. Fredericks of the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle on the East Side said today that it is the opinion of many that all attendance records for the summer Bible conferences will be broken this summer, reporting that 75 automobiles were counted at the tabernacle yesterday for the afternoon service. Those who came too late to secure seats remained in the cars and heard the service through amplifiers. Mr. Fredericks says that this annual all-summer conference, which is just in its second week, will doubtless surpass the two previous ones in every way. Evangelist John Carrara of New York City, who will continue preaching all this week, had a very busy and strenuous day on Sunday. At 10 o'clock he addressed the Men's Bible class at the First Baptist church, and at 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. he preached at the Calvary tabernacle.

Saturday is designated as picnic day at Grove City for the tabernacle friends.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)
Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the ancient Tarot of the Bohemians, fount of much of modern occultism, knitting symbolized the working of inexorable fate. If you had a dream in which someone was knitting, destiny had tapped you for a journey, a wedding, a change of occupation—not necessarily good or evil, but ruthlessly decreed.

So it has been in the mystic lore of many other times and peoples. The click of the knitting needles of the old beldames inched French noblemen closer to the guillotine, which historic incident was in close accord with the dramatic unities of all folk lore. The classic Fates were all women. But only on Olympus did they hold the power of life and death, or to make or mar the lives of humankind. On earth, men addressed to such matters.

But now, possibly for the first time in history, women actually do what previously they only symbolized. They sit on juries, and immediately there is raised in a White Plains, New York, courtroom the question of whether they may knit.

James W. Bailey says they may, and Mrs. Frank H. Vreeland, a motherly housewife, makes a dolly as she hears the evidence in a murder case. There's a bit of mordant, fantastic humor in that, as there is apt to be in even the grimmest of human dramas. I remember seeing Judd Gray in the death house at Sing Sing pulling up his trousers to preserve the crease, as he sat down in the electric chair. The judge concluded that knitting would not divert Mrs. Vreeland's mind from the evidence, which was no doubt true.

But I have an idea that if I ever had to be tried for my life, innocent or guilty, I shouldn't like to face a jury of knitting women. There is in all truth an esoteric sisterhood of women, in which man may not intrude, and one senses this clearly when they are knitting, talking, chattering or talking about hats. They are supremely assured, so utterly aloof and detached from mere masculinity. The juror is at liberty to challenge the district attorney daring to object to the court because Mrs. Dubinsky had purred one and dropped only two, when it should have been three. He would be put in his place.

At any rate in the transition from symbols and abstractions to the full status of human beings, women are still on Olympus—clicking swift needles of destiny. But could they doom a knitting lady defendant who showed them a new stitch?

Under a new decree, boys and girls attending the New York Food Trades High School will have to bathe every morning before classes in the school showers. It would be hard to find any objection to that, but reckoning a growing list of social compulsions, here's one more instance in which the community or the states take over a bit of what should be family business.

We have made somewhat of a fetish of cleanliness in America. We have had more than 100 years of free education, and we have provided the facilities for cleanliness to a degree unmatched in any nation at any time. Why should civic power be necessary to make children of high school grades take baths? Is the continual encroachment of the state on private lives made inevitable by our collective inertia and general all-around dumbness and laziness—mental and physical?

Thomas Jefferson feared that would happen. He spent twenty years building the University of Virginia, viewing the University of Virginia from the parapet of Monticello, five miles away. Many times he said and wrote, in effect:

"The constitution and the laws and even the government we have set up are less important than our eventual success in public education. Governments are subordinate to the self-discipline and enlightenment of the citizens, and to the degree that we attain such inner freedom, government will become less necessary. The best government is that which governs least."

Government also would have us grow in appreciation of the fine arts. We now have the Pepper-Coffee bill, known as the Fine Arts act, which would establish a permanent department of the arts. Art has flourished under great patrons, like the de Medici, and artists have been nourished by state funds, but any historic view is apt to reveal the mill-run citizen as either indifferent, or with quaint ideas of his own, no matter how long or how intense his exposure to the art stimulus.

Immigrants to America from countries with magnificent art traditions, and with the noblest examples of art everywhere in view, build dreadful wattle-and-dab houses with distressingly ugly interiors, and as they get more money and start branching out, they revel in the lowest depths of plaster bric-a-brac and a general slew of ugliness and irrelevance in furnishing and decoration.

One might say that's all the more reason why we should have a department of fine arts. I don't think so. I think it's one more instance in which we can't lift ourselves by our governmental bootstraps. Someday we'll grow up culturally, but we won't heave ourselves up by a law.

SEEK TO SPEED ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13—Receiving word from President Roosevelt he would like to see congress adjourn this week, preferably by Thursday, Democratic congressional leaders today rallied their forces for a race against time.

Night sessions will be resorted to in both branches, but the last-minute move by the administration for emergency railroad legislation was believed to hold the key to the adjournment date.

In both senate and house there was polling of sentiment on proposed legislation to facilitate reorganization of carriers in financial distress. Powerful leaders said that unless they can be assured there will be no prolonged fight over railroad aid legislation, the proposals will be dropped.

New Wage-Hours Bill Nearing Final Action In Congress

Conferees Have Adopted Bill

Measure To Be Called Up In House For Action On Tuesday

SPEEDY ACTION IN SENATE ALSO SEEN

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff
Washington

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Endorsed unanimously by 14 senate and house conferees, the new wage-hour bill was scheduled today for final congressional consideration this week.

Establishing an eventual minimum wage of 40 cents per hour, and a maximum 48-hour work week, but providing for broad exemptions—a bill, 10 days in the making, received final approval at a Sunday session of the conferees.

To Call It Up Tuesday

Rep. Mary T. Norton (D) of New Jersey, chairman of the house labor committee, and the house conferees, will call it up for consideration in the lower chamber Tuesday.

She predicted the conference report will be approved within an hour.

Likewise, the measure was scheduled for speedy consideration in the Senate.

"If the house passes the bill on Tuesday, and I think it will, we will probably be able to consider and pass it on the same day," said Senator Thomas (D) of Utah, chairman of the Senate labor committee and of the senate conferees.

Thomas described the new measure as the "greatest" since passage of the National Labor Relations Act.

"The bill is really not the house or the senate bill," he continued. "It is really a new bill and a good bill. We think it will stand the constitutional test because of its humanitarian endeavor."

Hailed As Step Forward

"It has a much better chance to stand the test of constitutionality than did the original senate and house bill," Mrs. Norton said.

The measure was hailed as "a great step forward" by representatives of the north and the south, who clashed over demands for exemptions.

Although the conference southern bloc obtained provisions for broad differentials, or exemptions, the northern bloc claimed victory in forcing through a universal minimum of 30 cents per hour, designed to raise the living standards in the south.

As the bill was adopted it provides for a 25 cent minimum wage for the first year, and 30 cents for the second, with provisions for a 40 cent minimum five years after the 30 cent minimum goes into effect.

When the law becomes effective 120 days after enactment, industrial boards, similar to code authorities established by the old NRA would be empowered to raise the pay standards to 40 cents wherever "economically feasible."

When the act has been in effect seven years, the boards, composed of representatives of the public, employers, and employees, would be empowered to recommend exemptions based on economic factors affecting an industry, or geographical locations of an industry.

'Y' Swimming Course Opens With 300 On Hand To Start

A crowd of more than 300 boys from all parts of the city jammed the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon for the opening day "swimmer test" preliminaries of the association's annual free "Learn to Swim" campaign.

This morning something like 150 applicants had sent formal entry blanks to the "Y" office and this afternoon those 150 were joined by 150 more who carried their entry blanks to the "Y" and sought enrollment for the course.

The "swimmer test" is given all applicants in order to determine whether or not a boy actually can swim. Many will be eliminated because they need no instruction.

"Last year," said William "Butch" Winter, chief of the instruction supvisors this year, "one boy came down to learn to swim even though he actually could swim as good as possibly better than I could. We found out he was a swell swimmer."

Mr. Winter emphasized that the "Y" conducts the campaign each summer to benefit "non-swimmers." To be eligible an applicant must be between 10 and 16 years of age.

This afternoon will be devoted to the "swimmer test" and the first instruction—leg kicking—will start tomorrow.

The course teaches a large number of boys the art of swimming each summer. The "Y" sponsors it as a part of its broad community service program. It costs the boys Winter, chief of the instruction sup-

Wales, has received and accepted a call to the pastorate of Penarth Baptist Church of Bangor, North Wales.

Three Bandits Take Jewelry Worth $10,000

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 13.—Three armed bandits, believed members of the ring that recently has been preying on night club patrons, today escaped with $10,000 in jewelry after halting the automobile of wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Murray Furman.

The bandits evidently picked up the trail of Furman, a stock broker, after he crossed a bridge from a New Jersey night club into Manhattan. Forcing Furman to halt, the trio with drawn guns snatched a platinum ring and two platinum bracelets from Mrs. Furman and a watch from her husband before they escaped.

Schmeling And Louis Prepare

Go Through Training Periods With Many Spectators At Ringsides

WILL ENTER RING FOR FIGHT JUNE 22

(International News Service) SPECULATOR, N. Y., June 13.—Taking on four sparring partners for two rounds each, topped off with rope skipping, bag punching and shadow boxing, Max Schmeling was declared physically fit by Dr. William H. Walker, state athletic commission physician, but didn't impress two ring experts so well.

James J. Braddock, among the 4,500 persons witnessing the drill, declared: "Why, the fellow has gone back two years instead of advancing. True, he is looking his left but what of it? It wouldn't knock a cream puff off a gate post."

Pompton Lakes, N. J.—Joe Louis let some right-handed punches through as he worked six rounds with three sparring partners before 3,734 fans who paid to see the Bomber's exhibition. Almost two-thirds as many more were turned away.

Louis conditioners expressed no worry about his physical or mental condition when he met Schmeling June 22, and felt that he could handle the German's right hand all right. Louis plans to weigh in at 199.

Indians Rest To Gather Strength

After Brilliant Start Cleveland Is Forced To Suffer Four Defeats

YANKEES CLOSE BEHIND INDIANS

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 13.—Nursing wounds of four successive defeats from their club adversaries, the Cleveland Indians today took advantage of an open date to rally their full strength for a home stand against the American League eastern clubs.

Tapering off from a brilliant start the tribe wound up their eastern swing by absorbing two defeats from the Boston Red Sox and two of two from the New York Yankees, who, incidentally, are only a game and a half off the pace.

While Cleveland prepares for a series with Washington, the Yankees will stop off today for an exhibition at Syracuse before heading into Chicago to open a determined bid for the league leadership against the White Sox tomorrow.

Although tough to beat at home, the Indians of 1938 under Manager Oscar Vitt still show a glaring weakness on the road.

The tribe lost its second straight to the Yankees yesterday as Charley Ruffing and Joe Gordon drove in five runs with homers and Ruffing registered his eighth victory, 7 to 6, Bob Feller, who relieved Johnny "Shirtsleeve" Allen, fell victim to Gordon's payoff homer in the eighth.

The Red Sox split a twin bill with the Chicago White Sox, Alex Winch losing the opener 3 to 2 on five hit pitching by Jackie Wilson and Jim Bagby, the Red Sox succumbed in the nightcap when Gerry Walker hit his second homer of the day to win for Chicago 4 to 3.

The Philadelphia Athletics took two games from the St. Louis Browns, the first 8 to 3 on Bob Johnson's two home runs, and the nightcap, 1 to 0 in a game shortened to five innings by rain. Johnson's homer—his 14th and 15th—accounted for seven runs. Thomas and Dean held the Browns to one safety in the nightcap.

Tigers Wallop Senators Aided by Rudy York's fourteenth homer and one by Charley Gehringer, the Detroit Tigers pounded out 20 hits to beat the Senators, 11 to 2. The Senators dropped an 11 to 1 lead as the Tigers scored ten in the sixth and seven in the ninth innings, off four Washington pitchers. The Senators knocked out 15 off four Detroiters.

In the National League, the Cubs took the opener from the Dodgers 9 to 3 on a nine-run eighth inning rally, then dropped the nightcap 6 to 0 as Freddie Fitzsimmons shut them out with four hits and Dolph Camilli homered with the bases loaded.

The Boston Bees took a 6 to 5, ten-inning decision from the Cincinnati Reds, then dropped the second game 7 to 4. Ival Goodman's 14th homer featured the twilight contest.

Pirates Win First Game Johnny Rizzo's base clearing homer and Mace Brown's effective relief pitching gave the Pirates an 11 to 5 decision in the first game at a twin bill with the Phillies, in a game delayed two hours by rain. The nightcap was called after a scoreless first inning in compliance with a 7 p. m. Pennsylvania Sunday curfew.

The league leading Giants split even with the Cardinals in St. Louis winning the opener 8 to 5 on a 10-hit attack off Warneke, Mason and Shoun, and closing the nightcap 4 to 1. Bob Weiland held the New Yorkers to six hits for his fourth win, while Carl Hubbell, who gave way to Walter Brown in the eighth inning of the second game, was charged with his third loss.

Matches Now Being Arranged For Grove Street Playground

MANY GOOD AMATEURS HERE

Indoor boxing having ended for the season, open air amateur boxing will get under way at the Playground in Grove street, Friday night. It was announced today.

Bleachers were hauled Saturday to the playground, which is enclosed and their erection started this morning. The ring will be pitched in the middle of the playground and none but the best matches will be arranged.

It was proved conclusively during the past several shows which were staged by the Riks that there are some good amateur boxers in this section and they will be pitted against the best from other clubs.

Among those from Ellwood City who will find places on the calendar will be Matthews, Retardo, Bartle and others. Frankie Moran, Joe Medick and Chuck Arnett and others from here will also be given spots.

It is likely that such wallflowers as Mickey Rubin, Steve Morgan of Youngstown, and the clever Harold Blank will get chances to show their flock of punches.

The bouts will be staged under the auspices of the Jefferson A. C.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Ralph Guldahl captured the National Open championship for the second consecutive year at Denver, Saturday, and announced today he would compete in the Western open to be staged in St. Louis. Guldahl was the first two-time Open champion since Bobby Jones and the fourth in the history of United States golf. His card at Denver was 284 and in 1937 at Oakland Hills, 281.

Max Schmeling, working out at Speculator, N. Y., is confident of beating heavyweight champion Joe Louis on June 22 and regaining the title. Former kink Jim Braddock, however, predicts Louis will retain the crown by knocking the German out within seven rounds.

Even Don Budge and Gene Mako of California were surprised and a little chagrined when they dropped out of the French championship in tennis at the Rotary Club team at Gaston Park field. Manager DeCaprio will use Bishara on the hill.

The Booker T. Washingtons have dropped out of the league and their place is being taken by the fast Boro A. C. team. The new team will meet the Spencers at Rose Avenue field tonight instead of the P. & O. Field. The Hawaiians will go to the Radiator field to oppose the second place Boro.

The N. Y. A. boys will play the Eagles at Deep Park field and the Weavers and Royals will go to Clifton Flats to play their scheduled game.

FACTOR GIRLS WIN The Factor family girls won their fourth straight game Sunday evening at the Rotary field, defeating the Pearson All-Stars 15 to 11. North Sewickley Residents Protest School Tax Levy

To Hold Mass Protest Meeting With Board Tuesday At Locust Grove School

ELLWOOD CITY, June 13.—To protest an increase in the school tax rate recently adopted by the North Sewickley township board of directors, residents of the township will hold a mass meeting with the directors on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, E. S. T., at the Locust Grove school building, Wiley Hill.

At their last meeting the board increased the tax rate from 15 mills to 21 mills and reduced the per capita assessment from $5 to $1. The 15 mill rate, which has been in effect for many years, was the lowest tax rate in any of the local school districts.

According to the spokesmen for the group, the decrease in the per capita tax would make the principal amount of the tax assessable to 40 per cent of the property owners. Various speakers have been secured by the protest group.
